PEACE 'LIE' IRKS LONDON

Battle for Cape Gloucester

Downpour in New Britain—A rain-drenched Marine raises his arm in a "fire" order for the crew of a 75mm howitzer in a jungle hollow somewhere on Cape Gloucester, New Britain, as American invaders battle furiously with Japs through a pouring tropical rain in the tangled underbrush and jungle growth.

Lisbon Jittery Over Red Hint

By WADE WERNER

LISBON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Pravda's Cairo report that German Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop had talked peace with the British somewhere on the Iberian peninsula was just another note in the symphony of rumors characterizing this listening post of Europe.

Responsible diplomats here are doubly cautious listeners, and the first reaction in Allied quarters was to regard the report as a delayed echo of previous unsubstantiated rumors to the effect Von Ribbentrop was coming to Portugal, or was here.

British, Greek and Yugoslav sources insisted they knew nothing of a Von Ribbentrop parley anywhere on the peninsula. It was recognized that Germany's plight was serious enough to justify peace feelers, but doubts were expressed that a top-flight Nazi leader like Von Ribbentrop would have the faintest chance of contacting the British except for the purpose of unconditional surrender.

The most important fact about the Cairo report was that it was published by Pravda. Had it been in Swedish, Swiss or other neutral newspapers reaction would have been suspicion of a German trick.

The report coincides with rumors and predictions among the Vichy French here that a negotiated peace is imminent.

But wishful thinking is regarded as the basis of such talk among Petain adherents. Their future is dark indeed if an Allied invasion of France, with gradual expulsion of the Germans and their Vichy collaborators is necessary. Whatever may be the truth about von Ribbentrop, it is no secret that there is an atmosphere of tense expectancy in Lisbon.

There is an obvious reflection of the critical predicament of Bulgaria, Rumania and Hungary as Soviet troops near the Rumanian border, and Allied bombings of Bulgaria suggest the prelude to a Balkan push.

Black Cats Rip 3 Jap Ships

ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Navy's Black Cats, famed for low losses and heavy tolls, sank a 10,000-ton Japanese merchantman and left two other cargo ships aflame in a six-ship convoy off Kavieng, New Ireland, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported today.

None of the Catalina patrol planes—called Black Cats because of their sooty paint and night-flying habits—was damaged.

Mail denouncing it as insulting and the Manchester Guardian calling it a "slandering accusation."

The morning papers generally displayed the story on their front pages, emphasizing that the British foreign office had issued a flat denial of the report printed in Moscow by the Communist party organ.

Not one London afternoon paper published the Moscow story yesterday, although there was no censorship ban.

SPANISH DENIAL MADE

In the absence of any official explanation from Moscow, and in view of the wide circulation given the report yesterday by the Moscow radio, the Daily Mail said the British government "may deem it necessary in the near future to reassert in Commons their determination to abide by their agreements never to make a separate peace."

An Associated Press dispatch from Madrid, meanwhile, said authorized Spanish sources denied last night that Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop had been in Spain and termed Pravda's "Cairo rumor" that von Ribbentrop had discussed peace with two British officials on the "Pyrenees Peninsula" as ridiculous.

(From Lisbon, similarly, an Associated Press dispatch quoted British, Greek and Yugoslav sources as disclaiming any information of the rumored peace talk.)

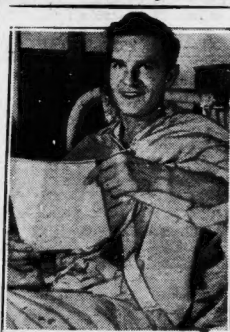

The foreign office denial of the authenticity of the story has been brought to the attention of the Soviet government by the British

Churchill Back In Commons; Is Given Ovation

By ROGER GREENE

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill returned to London unexpectedly today after convalescing from an attack of pneumonia in the Middle East and told a cheering House of Commons that he expected to make a statement on the war in the near future.

U. S. Army Photo from International

CHEERED—A letter from his mother cheers Pvt. Zenon E. Trasewick of Ashley, Pa., as he recovers in an Army hospital overseas from wounds received during the fighting in North Africa. Letters do much to improve mental condition of wounded men.

Churchill looked the picture of health as he stepped from his train into the floodlighted station.

His arrival, terminating his longest wartime absence from the country, was kept semi-private and was devoid of fanfare.

He appeared in top spirits and smiled broadly as the small crowd at the station greeted him with a burst of cheering. It was noted, however, that he was not smoking his usual long black cigar.

Churchill was wearing his "Trinity House" uniform of black peacocks with yachting cap set at a jaunty angle.

The prime minister, slightly tired but happy, asked the House that: "be given 'some latitude' about the actual date for discussing the war, thereby indicating he planned a careful summary of events in prelude to western invasion of Europe.

KEEPS OLD ROUTINE

When asked by a member what steps he was taking to relieve himself of some of his official duties to conserve his health, Churchill replied, amid laughter: "I am obliged to you for your solicitude, but I have no changes to propose at present in my routine."

Churchill again drew laughter when he demurred at Comdr. Oliver Locker-Lampson's proposal that "we go off and drink this toast: 'Death to all dictators and long life to all liberators'." "It is very early in the morning," Churchill chuckled.

Sir Herbert William asked if Churchill were aware of any "false optimism" voiced in a recent speech in which Gen. Montgomery indicated the probable early capture of Rome.

"I don't know about false optimism," Churchill replied. "There has been a lot of bad weather."

SURPRISE FOR MP'S

Churchill's reappearance in Commons came as a dramatic surprise to the MP's, for there had been no inkling that he was coming home soon.

Carrying a large bundle of typewritten documents, he suddenly emerged from the shadows behind the speaker's chair and walked briskly to his seat. Cheers thundered spontaneously, and the members sprang to their feet. Several gasped in astonishment.

One of Churchill's first visitors is expected to be Gen. Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander for western invasion. The Prime Minister has been in close touch with events during his convalescence, but he is reported anxious to have the latest confidential information.

Marshall Raid Flushes Record Jap Planes

PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 18 (AP)—Army and Navy bombers sank a small Japanese cargo ship and damaged three others in raids on the Marshall islands Jan. 15 and 16, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced—and the Japanese interception was the strongest yet encountered over any single attack there.

One American bomber was lost but two of the 45 enemy fighters that rose to defend Maleolap Saturday were believed shot down. Two cargo ships there may have been sunk.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 18 (AP)—District police were on the watch today for four German prisoners of war who, it was disclosed last night, escaped from a lumber camp at Mead in northwestern Ontario.

Red Drive Nears Rovno

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW, Jan. 18 (AP)—Troops of Gen. Vatutin's First Ukrainian Army were reported closing in today on Rovno (in old Poland), key German communications center 110 miles south of Pinsk, another main objective of Vatutin's forces on the northern edge of the frozen Pripiet marshes.

Fall of Rovno, junction of the Berdichev-Warsaw and Sarny-Lwow railways, inevitably would imperil the German grip on a vast area of southern and southwestern Russia, already threatened by Vatutin's left wing driving toward the Rumanian frontier.

Vatutin's center, based on Novograd Volynski, 50 miles east of Rovno, was driving on the rail hub from the east, northeast and north, constituting a triple threat which made its early capture a possibility. One column moving in from the northeast already has occupied Tuchin, 13 miles away, and is steadily beating down a savage enemy resistance, a Russian communiqué said.

Soviet engineers were called in to provide equipment for the crossing of the Horyn river, which flows westward through Tuchin's outskirts, and which has not frozen sufficiently for transport on the ice. Beyond the river there was a formidable four-mile-wide swamp barrier extending to the village of Goringrad, stronghold of Rovno's outer defense system 10 miles to the north, which also has to be negotiated by Vatutin's forces.

The five-day-old Russian offensive on the Leningrad front, meanwhile, continued to roll forward. Towns captured yesterday, said the Russian war bulletin, included Kurova, Kiselevichi, Alkhimovo, and Sloboda.

The German high command said the Russians were attacking north and northwest of Nevel, north of Lake Ilmen, south of Leningrad and south of Oranienbaum, with "growing intensity." Berlin broadcasts said the Red Army was using 250,000 men on a 250-mile-long front.

Moor Pixies Pester Boys

by AUSTEN LAKE

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (by transport plane)—The U. S. Army division with which the writer is now quartered has units sprawled all over the countryside, inside an immense, geographical triangle. It has been resident in England longer than most and is battle-tough and seasoned—(censored). The command does not spare the soldiers, who are busy with 48-hour combat problems several times a week, in which they live in the field and simulate battle conditions that would collapse troops less physically fit.

Need I moralize that these men get no extra pay for overtime, and in a single 48-hour stretch, go through spasms of violence and hardship which would cripple the average civilian? Yet during my first evening here an infantry unit came "off the moors," as they say, only a few hours before a scheduled boxing tournament, with the RAF and

PFC. NATHAN YAFFE

CHAPLAIN MULHERN

CHAPLAIN J. G. KENNEY

Royal Navy. They came slogging in, drenched to the pelt, sleep-starved, bearded and muscle-weary.

But their fighters kept the evening appointment and won the match 5 to 2. The rest of the troops turned up in the big hangar and stayed to the last song. These men are fit.

The English moors, where the troops go through their tactical lessons, are vast wastelands, usually unfertile bogs which yield mostly to the step. They are crossed with quagmires, or water pits and craggy bluffs, and when the fog blows in, which is most of the time, company commanders steer their course by pocket compass after the fashion of mariners in mid-ocean.

What They Eat Afield

And almost inevitably, during a maneuver, the men tumble into some unseen crevice or morass, soak themselves to the skin and plod on, sleeping a few winks on the soggy heather and eating a hasty gobble from cellophane-sealed "K" rations, a small can of potted meat, a square of chocolate, some tasteless vitamin-crackers, a stick of chewing gum and several cigarettes.

The natives hereabouts have weird legends about these moors and a firm faith in the supernatural happenings that they say occur there. They have a little litany which runs, "From the ghoules, and ghoules, and long-legged beasts and things that go bump in the night—Lord deliver us." (Censored.)

The pixies, a kind of ground-Gremlins, live here, collapsing puppets, fouling gun barrels and freezing breech locks. Ask any U. S. soldier!

So this morning, after a bone-chilling night, we came down from the moors looking like military tramps. Through the ground mists that swirled and eddied like something alive, we spied a settlement of Nissen huts among the patchwork of gray, brown and yellow fields. You should be told that the Nissen hut is built like the upper half of a huge sewer

Lady Ashley, Lord Wait Royal OK to Hub Bridal

Romance was under considerable nervous tension today at the Copley-Plaza while Lady Ashley, widow of Doug Fairbanks, and Lord Stanley, British Navy lieutenant-commander, awaited royal and naval permission for their nuptials and His Lordship cruised for "a parson."

MRS. DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS

It's got to be all right with the King and the Royal Navy before a subject officer may take a bride, but a cablegram was expected giving official sanction for the marriage.

Meanwhile, however, Lord Stanley, besieged by romance-hunting reporters and as nervous as any incipient bridegroom (though he and Lady Ashley are both veterans of divorce) parried all questions and alternated between the suite of his bride-to-be and taxicabs.

Now stationed at Hingham, Lord Stanley made two taxi trips from the hotel in search of a marrying minister, spruening offers of aid from the press. When he returned the second time, he said:

"I think I've got the man I want now."

Nevertheless, he declined to say when he and Lady Ashley would be married, or if it would happen today. From a hotel attache, however, it was learned the ceremony was planned for afternoon, perhaps in the Ashley suite, with a wedding "breakfast" to be served there.

Friends and the press had waited expectantly for the ceremony since the couple appeared at City Hall for a license. Both said they were 36 and detailed their prior marriage. It will be the third marriage for Lady Ashley, with her first ending in divorce from Lord Ashley. She married Fairbanks, the famous movie star, in 1936 and became a widow in 1939.

It is Lord Stanley's second marriage. He was divorced from Victoria Audrey Stanley in London in 1936.

By strange fate, Mary Pickford, the second wife of Douglas Fairbanks, was at the Copley-Plaza launching a drive in behalf of funds for infantile paralysis while the couple were getting their marriage license.

Mary dashed off a note of congratulations, left it for her one-time rival and then hurried on to the next city in her nation-wide tour.

Guerrillas Battle In Malayan Jungle

CHUNGKING, Jan. 18 (AP)—Guerrillas led by British officers who survived the fall of Singapore still are operating against the Japanese in the Malayan jungle, says the Rev. Marcus Chang, prominent Chinese Christian who escaped from Singapore last year.

Most of the Japanese troops who participated in the capture of Singapore have long since been transferred to other fronts, he declared that those remaining are outnumbered six to one by the guerrillas.

King Emmanuel's Coins Seized

AT THE SWISS-ITALIAN FRONTIER, Jan. 18 (AP)—The treasure of the House of Savoy, containing the coin collection of King Victor Emmanuel, was reported today to have been seized by the Germans and turned over to the puppet Fascist regime.

Turin newspapers told conflicting stories of the treasure, admitting that it may not be the "veritable" Savoy treasure, but that nonetheless, its value was more than a billion lire (about $10,000,000), contained in 370 cases, it was recently discovered by the Germans when they occupied the royal chateau Pollenzo, near Cuono.

All of the cases, many of them marked "Marie Jose," and others "Trousseau of Queen Elena" and "Prince Victor Emmanuel," were brought from the Villa Savoia in Rome, home of the royal family.

Fascist journalists were permitted to see only the outside of the cases, which are now being inventoried.

It's a Boy!

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (INS)—If Ezio Pinza, the Metropolitan Opera basso, is polishing up on lullabies today, it's easily understandable.

His wife, the former Doris Leak, ex-Metropolitan ballerina, gave birth to their first son last night. He will be named Ezio Pietro. The Pinzas have a two-year-old daughter, Clelia.

Lake Tells You Tomorrow of Other N. E. Boys

Austen Lake, Boston American war correspondent, finds boys from New England scattered over Britain's countryside in closely guarded camps where they are learning the grim business of war preparatory to taking the "giant step" toward Berlin.

In tomorrow's Boston American he tells of finding soldiers from Mattapan, Taunton, Roxbury, West Bridgewater, Newbury, N. H.; Providence, Portland, Me.; Canaan, N. H.; Brockton, Hyde Park, Maynard, Everett, Brookline, Beverly, Norwood, Springfield, Barrington, R. I.; Manchester, N. H.; Bridgeport, Ct.; New Hartford, Ct., and many other New England communities.

New Archbishop, But No Pallium

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Bernard Griffin was enthroned today as Catholic archbishop of Westminster in a ceremony marked by absence of the sacred pallium, traditional symbol of the archbishop's metropolitan jurisdiction.

The pallium failed to arrive from the Vatican because of the war.

The new archbishop delivered an outspoken sermon against divorce and manufacture of birth control devices. He advocated stricter censorship of films and books which attack the sanctity of marriage and sacredness of the family.

The new head of the Roman Catholic hierarchy in England is only 44. He succeeds the late Arthur Cardinal Hinsley as archbishop. He was born in Birmingham, served in the navy and the air force in the last war and has been auxiliary bishop of Birmingham since 1938.

Old-Time Italian Official Dies

BERN, Jan. 18 (AP) — The death of Dr. Silvio Crespi, 75-year-old Italian economist, senator, and minister of food and transportation during the first World War, was reported today by the Swiss telegraphic agency in a dispatch from the frontier. He was one of the Italian signatories to the peace treaties at Versailles and St. Germain after the first World War.

fighting for minimum severance pay of $700 for more than nine months service.

Active opposition to the $700 figure was expected to come from Rep. Andrew J. May of Kentucky, chairman of the military affairs committee, which reported out an administration bill with a maximum of $300.

May said he would fight all efforts to boost this amount, especially to a $700 figure.

Many congressmen more sympathetic, including Reps. Philip J. Philbin and Thomas J. Lane, both of Massachusetts, are members of a committee backing a $700 maximum which long has been the aim of Rep. William Lemke of North Dakota.

OFFERS SLIDING SCALE

Under the Lemke amendment, presented today, veterans would receive $100 on discharge and $50 a month for a year thereafter if they have served nine months or more. Those with shorter periods of service would receive a sliding scale down to a minimum of $250 for less than three months under arms.

Both Lane and Philbin are battling for the $700 maximum and expressed confidence that the amendment will carry.

"A mere pittance will not solve the problems of the veteran," Lane said. "It will not justify the faith he has in his government. It is our duty to deal generously and justly with the veteran right now."

Under today's procedure, two hours will be allowed for debate with additional time for amendment, during which any member of the House can have the floor to speak on an amendment.

Because of the controversial nature of the bill it now is believed that debate may continue into Wednesday, with the measure then going to a conference committee on Thursday.

GAG RULE BLOCKED

Despite this possibility, Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, House minority leader, was hopeful that the finally accepted bill might go through both branches on Friday and require only the President's signature to become law.

Perhaps one of the biggest victories the veterans have won thus far was blocking of "gag" rule on the bill.

Inquest Into Coma Deaths of 3 Planned

While the sole survivor fought for recovery at Cambridge Hospital, authorities today planned a formal inquest in the deaths of three companions on a woodland parking party—pronounced a medical oddity by amazed scientists.

Still further questioning faces Miss Grace Saunders, 18, of Newtowne Court, Cambridge, who is battling gangrene and possible amputation of her frost-bitten feet. But this additional questioning and the inquest will not come until she has recovered from the terrifying ordeal.

Dist. Atty. Robert F. Bradford, who called for the inquest, announced that the three victims all died from monoxide poisoning while parked in an automobile off the Concord turnpike in Lexington.

Fumes from a faulty exhaust pipe brought death, but, according to the autopsy report by Medical Examiner John M. Wilcox, not until long after the fumes had ceased to enter the car.

The victims were Miss Ruth Place, 16, of Mayall rd., and James and John Keefe, 24 and 17-year-old brothers of Newton st., all of Waltham.

One by one they died, while Miss Saunders was spared by seepage of fresh air through a front window.

But what amazed scientists was the manner of their deaths. The trio lapsed into a state of "suspended animation," brought on by cold and monoxide some time late Thursday night. As if under an anesthesia, the three lived on in a helpless daze until sometime late Friday or Sunday morning, the times of the deaths.

A double funeral for the Keefe brothers will take place on Friday from the Newton st., Waltham home of their parents.

Miss Place will be buried tomorrow from the Mayall rd., Waltham, home of her parents.

REVERE PAIR BARE STOLEN LIQUOR SALES

Two self-confessed liquor thieves testified in Suffolk Superior Court today they had sold 25 cases of stolen liquor to Mario and Philip Nisco, brothers and operators of the BaySide Club, Revere.

Government witnesses were Frank Soper, 21, of Waterville, Me., and Edward J. Miller, 22, of Central Falls, R. I. Soper was brought from Concord Reformatory, where he is serving a sentence for a Brookline liquor break.

The Nisco brothers, who are on trial charged with receiving stolen goods, bought stolen liquor from them after haggling over a price which eventually was agreed upon as $700, Miller and Soper testified. Both denied they had taken back 18 cases at gunpoint and refunded $300, as had been charged.

The case is expected to go to the jury today.

Schools Plan Vets' Course

The board of Boston school superintendents today were busy with a streamlined, accelerated high school curriculum to be established at Teachers College for returning war veterans.

Drafting of the modern speed-up course came after approval by a vote of the school committee and the pointed observation by Committeeman Joseph C. White, sponsor of the proposal, that many men now in military service have not completed the regular high school course.

Many veterans, he said, would find it difficult to adjust themselves to the regular high school program. The cost probably will be footed by the federal government, he added.

At the same time, the school committee approved Supt. Arthur L. Gould's retirement of the former Grace Loneragan as a second grade teacher of the Charles H. Taylor School. The teacher, married Christmas Eve to Pvt. Lee Lerch of the Army Air Force, had refused to submit her resignation.

Advance Points Help Farmers Sell Pork

WASHINGTON (AP)—Advance use of 120 red meat points to stimulate on-the-farm purchase of pork is authorized by the Office of Price Administration.

The red stamps in book four numbered "eight" and lettered "A" through "M" were valid for immediate use in on-the-farm pork purchased by the OPA action.

The last 96 brown points remaining in book three may also be used for advance purchases of pork, the OPA said. The action gives every consumer 216 meat points to purchase pork from the farmer.

Taxi 'Shakedown' Row Flares

Boston's police-taxi dispute raged unabated today as Pres. John V. Jenkins of the taxi drivers' union, AFL, went to police headquarters to give Commr. Sullivan the inside story, names and all, of an alleged "shakedown racket" police are working on cab operators.

Jenkins asked that his conference with the commissioner be held in secret, but Sullivan declared: "There will be no behind-doors sessions. If these men have any evidence it will take the usual procedure provided by the law."

The commissioner then served notice that he would not permit complaints and random charges to serve as a "smoke screen" intended to begot the issues in the police department move to change taxicab regulations, in order to cut passenger fares for servicemen and other customers.

These changes, loudly opposed by 500 drivers at a preliminary police board hearing, include: issuance of 100 more taxicab licenses, issuance of licenses only to bona fide citizens of Boston, preference to honorably discharged veterans, re-issuance of unclaimed licenses to the first person on the waiting list and banning of transfers of hackney carriage medallions in the future.

Commr. Sullivan asserted he would launch an investigation of charges that some medallions, at time of transfer, were sold for as much as $1700, when the annual fee charged by the police is only $10.

Woman of Mystery Held in City Hospital

Identity of a tall, well-dressed woman, found wandering in Dorchester, was clouded in mystery today as City Hospital attaches refused to permit reporters to see her or to give any diagnosis of her ailment.

Hospital officials said she was tentatively identified as Anna Nihil, but could give no address. She was described as about 6 feet, weighing 175 pounds, grayish hair, wearing a seakins coat, blue dress and white blouse.

The mysterious woman was seen walking along Talbot ave., apparently in a daze. She was taken to Boston State Hospital by Robert Rawlings of Warren ave., Roxbury, who discovered her plight. She was later removed to City Hospital.

A 14-year-old girl, an amnesia victim in City Hospital, was identified by her mother as Carmela Martignetti of Blue Hill ave., Roxbury, after she had recovered sufficiently to recall her address.

Found dazed and terror-stricken in Highland st., Roxbury, the child was taken to Roxbury Crossing station, where she said "a man chased me."

Her mother, Mrs. Lena Martignetti, said the girl was frightened when she left the house to buy candy and saw Mrs. Martignetti in the street. Mrs. Martignetti explained she had forbidden Carmela to leave the house while she was out.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 18 (AP)—The Scandinavian Telegraph Bureau (German dominated) said today officials in Zagreb, capital of Croatia, announced passenger traffic on Croatian railways would be stopped for a month beginning Friday.

Draft Tests Begin Under New System

The first Massachusetts men to be given pre-induction physical examinations under the new draft regulations reported today at induction stations in Boston and Worcester.

Col. Ralph M. Smith, selective service officer for Massachusetts, declined to report immediately how many men had been called. He disclosed, however, that men are to be called up steadily every day.

100,000 Volunteers Aid Bond Drive in Bay State

Vowing to sell an extra War Bond to every man, woman and child in Massachusetts, more than 100,000 volunteer salesmen today opened the Fourth War Loan drive to reach and exceed a Bay State quota of $794,000,000. The national goal is $14,000,000,000.

The big Massachusetts total, with $258,000,000 to be raised by sales to individuals, means that Bay Staters must buy bonds at the rate of $10,000,000 worth each day until the campaign ends Feb. 15.

The sales slogan for the fourth war bond drive is "Let's All Back the Attack," and the war finance committee officials urged the public to have in mind the recent statement of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, now preparing the attack on Nazi-held Europe, in which he declared:

"The only thing needed for us to win the European war in 1944 is for every man and woman, all the way from the front line to the remotest hamlet, to do his or her full duty."

More than 800,000 school children will participate in the bond sales drive, in which retail stores, theaters, hotels, business concerns, and patriotic and civic organizations will also take part.

Many special events have been planned to spur the bond drive, including a War Bond Cavalcade, an all-soldier show with a cast of enlisted men and WACs from harbor defense posts, which will tour the state.

5 Million Volunteers Push U. S. Bond Drive

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Five million volunteers began the job today of putting over the tough part of the Treasury's $14,000,000,000 Fourth War Loan—raising $5,500,000,000 in cash among individual Americans.

For two weeks they'll concentrate on that phase of the campaign alone. Then the insurance companies, big business firms and savings banks will come into the picture.

In some places the job is already done. Pershing County, Nevada, for example, reported last night that a county-wide rally had sold $185,000 in war bonds in nine minutes. Pershing's quota was $155,800 in a special broadcast, marking the beginning of the drive, Gen. Eisenhower, speaking from London, said "we are going to hit the enemy and hit him again until the last measure of Nazi resistance is crushed to beaten earth."

Last night in a special broadcast, marking the beginning of the drive, Gen. Eisenhower, speaking from London, said "we are going to hit the enemy and hit him again until the last measure of Nazi resistance is crushed to beaten earth."

And from Honolulu, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, declared that although the Japanese are thoroughly entrenched in the Pacific island "we will smother them out at a time and place chosen by ourselves."

He urged Americans to "guarantee success of the offensive . . . with the continued purchase of War Bonds."

Britain's Debt Now 77 Billions

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Britain's national debt Dec. 31 was approximately £19,237,000,000 (about $77,334,740,000) compared with £8,026,000,000 (about $32,264,520,000) in 1933, the House of Commons was told today by Sir John Anderson, chancellor of the exchequer.

GANG KILLING LINKED TO BIG GEM RING

Investigation of the gangland-style murder of Arthur R. Duffy, 40, dapper jewel thief, widened today as police of Boston, Cambridge, New York and Miami, Fla., linked clues to a nation-wide ring dealing in stolen gems.

Among the day's swift developments were the following:

Cambridge police said they have six keys owned by Duffy, one of which they believe is for a safe deposit box, but they have no clue as to what bank it is in. If the bank can be identified, they will ask court authority to open the box in their search for jewelry or other property which might produce a clue to the motive for Duffy's murder.

A Dorchester man, employed as a jewelry salesman in Arlington, was questioned for the second time yesterday, but the session was unproductive. Cambridge officials said. He had drawn their interest when it was learned he had slept in Duffy's room last Thursday night.

Search in New York for the country's No. 1 dealer in stolen gems, wanted for questioning in connection with his business relations with Duffy.

Attempts to locate two safe deposit boxes, believed filled with diamonds, rented by Duffy last week in New York.

HUNT MISSING CAR

Search for an auto with N. Y. plates which Duffy was said to have left in Miami and which since has disappeared.

Police said the possibility of an early "break" in the mystery slaying hinged largely on the outcome of the New York interview, scheduled for today, of Lieut. Patrick F. Ready of the Cambridge detective force and Sergt. Insp. Joseph P. Breen with the noted New York "fence."

This dealer in stolen jewels, said to be the occupant of a luxurious suite in a Broadway hotel, entered the case when investigators came across copies of two telegrams Duffy sent to Miami a few hours before he hurriedly left his Cambridge hotel Saturday night—for his rendezvous with death.

POSTED $7500 BOND

Duffy had flown here from Miami a few days earlier after posting $7500 cash bond for court appearance in the Florida resort following an unsuccessful jewelry store robbery.

Cambridge authorities said the telegrams were sent to different men and that one asked for $1000 "by Monday." Duffy indicated the New York "fence" was putting pressure on him for payment of this sum before a deadline yesterday.

The nature of Duffy's dealings with the New York man, or with any other members of a nationwide ring of thieves and jewel merchants operating illicitly outside the tax laws, holds the secret of the "ride" killing, police are convinced.

Horn-est

Back Bay police today investigated the believe-it-or-not case of a marked, empty auto which blew its own horn at long intervals during the early morning, only to stop when officers approached. Police blamed the trouble on a freak short-circuit.

U.S. Soviet Embassy Pravda Flays Carol, Finns

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—An official Soviet publication said today any hopes which former King Carol of Rumania may have for a restoration to power face "the most bitter disappointment."

The Soviet Embassy Information Bulletin, referring to Carol as "this stranger of every manifestation of democracy, this comic opera field marshal who dreamed of annexation of foreign territory long before Antonescu (Rumanian Premier Ion Antonescu) came on the scene," charged the former king with a share of the blame for converting Rumania to Hitlerism.

Carol, now living in Mexico, has been described by his American public relations counsel as a friend of the United Nations and a supporter of democratic principles. The Bulletin, Washington ern-bassy publication, attacked the stand it said had been taken by some Rumanians in exile "in justification of Rumania's piratical 'right' to Bessarabia," border province to which the Soviet Union lays claim.

Antonescu's regime has not long to live," the bulletin said, adding "there can be little doubt that bitter disappointment" awaits Carol if he expects to replace him.

The same issue carried the bulletin's third attack on Finland in recent weeks, charging the Finnish army with atrocities in occupied Russian towns and villages. The article also charged "Finland's bosses" nourished a plan for creating a "Greater Finland—a Finland extending to Urals," and said: "Having staked all on the fate of Hitlerite Germany, Finland now stands on the brink of catastrophe."

The Inquiring Busybody

Question: What is our country's crying need?

RICHARD (Babyface) NEELY: We sure have a crying need, and what do we get? Gracie Allen in a hilarious radio show! But she makes me laugh till the tears roll down my vest and wash out the gavy stains, so it's okay by me. Especially tonight, with William Bendix as guest star.

MIRIAM (The Wack) DEWEY: For crying out loud, I turn my radio on Tuesday nights, and what do I get? George Burns and Gracie Allen, Bill Goodwin, Jimmy Cagney, and a fancy guest star. It's enough to make a gal die laughing, for crying out loud!

SOAPY (4-in-1) SWAN: Don't listen to those soreheads. Listen to George Burns and Gracie Allen on your radio tonight. And remember who's guest starring tonight... William Bendix. Oh yeah? Yeah! So be sure to listen.

Pravda

charge d'affaires in Moscow, it was announced today.

RUS: EDITORS SILENT

From Moscow came word that neither Izvestia, official government newspaper, nor Red Star, official newspaper of the Red army, today published the story.

There was no editorial comment in either Izvestia or Red Star about yesterday's Pravda's story, which is still today's big news in Moscow. Pravda, official Communist party newspaper, does not publish Tuesdays.

Ever since publication of the story the telephone of every foreigner in Moscow who has any Russian friends has almost rung off the desk with calls inquiring what it is all about.

Foreign diplomats expressed more surprise over why the Russians published the rumor than over what the rumor reported.

Nothing ever gets into the Soviet press by accident, one high-ranking diplomat pointed out. He said he was perplexed as to just why this rumor was served up to the people in such fashion.

Foreign observers who were in Russia when Rudolf Hess took peace proposals to Britain said yesterday's story caused far more comment.

The Daily Mail, whose headline read: "Britain kills 'separate peace' lie," commented that "the newspaper Pravda must be remarkably ignorant of British national standards. This is the only excuse we can find for it."

CALL IT SLANDER

"To the world at large the story carries its refutation on its face," said the Manchester Guardian, "but what is not pleasant is that such slanderous accusation against an ally should be circulated among the Russian people."

The Daily Express, owned by Lord Beaverbrook, one of Russia's best friends in Britain, carried no editorial. A political correspondent, however, wrote that the rumor had been making the rounds in various forms since Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden conferred with Turkish representatives at Cairo.

"But it was regarded as so fantastic and so obviously intended to make mischief between the Allies that it was ignored," he wrote. "When it received publicity in so influential a quarter as Pravda, however, the British government at once decided to deny it officially and to bring this denial directly to the notice of the Soviet government."

Tito Wounded Battling Nazis

LONDON, Jan. 18 (AP)—A rumor that Marshal Tito of the Yugoslav Partisans has been wounded in Montenegrin fighting was broadcast today by the Cairo radio. There was no confirmation in the Partisan communiqué, broadcast earlier by the Free Yugoslav station.

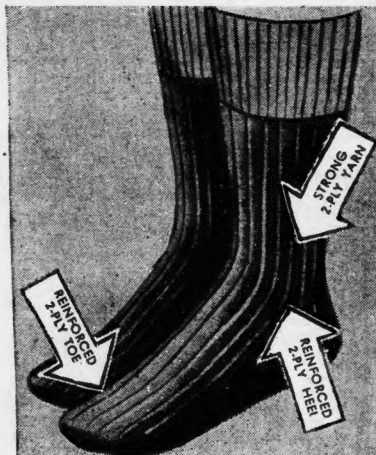

Tito, whose real name is Josip Broz, is the broad, stocky leader of strong guerrilla forces engaging the Germans in heavy fighting. More than 50 years old, he was a metal worker and labor leader, and is reported to have been an officer in the International Brigade aiding the Loyalists during Spain's civil war.

INDICTED DRAFT OFFICIAL KILLS SELF IN LEAP

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Edward Wilson, 58, former draft board official under indictment with brewery heir, Gert Hans von Gontard, on a charge of conspiracy to violate the selective service act, plunged to death last night from a 14-story building.

The building houses local draft board No. 20 of which Wilson was once chief clerk.

Police said Wilson left four notes, two to his wife, one to a friend and a fourth addressed to no one.

Those to Mrs. Wilson, police reported, said he was to have appeared in court today in connection with the indictment.

"This is the only way out," police quoted him as writing.

The indictment charged Wilson and four others conspired "to the making of false statements as to the unfitness and nonliability" of Von Gontard for selective service, and "to unlawfully, wilfully and knowingly counsel, aid and abet" Von Gontard to evade service.

N. E. Boys First To Scale Hill 660

By MURLIN SPENCER

WITH THE MARINES AT CAMP GLOUCESTER, Jan. 15 (delayed). (AP)—Seldom have American forces been required to combat such a combination of foes as the Marines did in capturing strategic Hill 660 overlooking Borgen bay, New Britain.

They had to overcome precipitous slopes, torrential downpours, dense jungles and an enemy grim and stubborn.

"God gave us this hill," said Pvt. George White, former Atlanta, Ga., minister, when the leather-necks reached the peak.

The trail to 660 started at the end of a jeep road where Col Julian Frisbee, Springfield, Ill., had his task force command post on a log.

It ended where Frederick Kersey, 205 West Eighth st., South Boston, Mass., sat under a shelter, half-cursing the Japanese whose bullet broke his only pipe, and where Harold McKenzie, 15 Spooner st., North Easton, Mass., handled a Tommy gun whose stock had been shot away.

M. J. Cummings' 25th Bridal Fete

A surprise celebration was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Matthew J. Cummings of Arabella rd., Dorchester, on their 25th wedding anniversary last night by over 350 friends at Dorchester Plaza.

Cummings, contractor and president of a construction company, and his wife were visibly touched when they appeared at the party and were cheered and toasted by their many friends.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Francis Hickey had taken them there on the ruse that they were to attend a linen shower.

A purse of silver was presented in behalf of their well-wishers by Frank Marr, drill master of the Boston fire department. Barbara Cummings presented her parents with a huge bouquet of American Beauty roses. Another daughter, Ruth, was also present.

Army Has 272 Days Of Food for Troops

CHICAGO, Jan. 18 (AP)—For each American soldier fighting overseas the Army must have on hand 272 days of food supplies, Brig. Master Depot, said today.

"This means enough butter for 272 days, enough meat for 272 days, enough of everything that each soldier eats for 272 days," Gen. Barzyski said. This supply accounts for some of the heavy stocks of food in cold storage warehouses in this country, he added.

(Cold storage stocks of beef on Jan. 1 totaled 225,900,000 pounds against 127,000,000 a year ago; pork 509,100,000 pounds against 490,000,000 pounds; butter 154,364,000 pounds against 24,979,000 pounds, and eggs (fresh and frozen) 3,379,000 cases against 2,485,000 cases).

In addition, the Army must have on hand 90 days' supply of food per every soldier stationed at camps in America, Gen. Barzyski stated. Each soldier eats approximately 5½ pounds of food a day, which compares with average civilian food consumption of a little more than 3 pounds daily.

'Destroy New Deal's Defeatism'--Bricker

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 18—Gov. John W. Bricker, of Ohio, enjoyed one of the unforgettable experiences of his long political career here in the heart of the Deep South.

Declaring the centralization of government and the trend toward absolutism in the United States to be the major issue in this campaign, the Governor said he appeared frankly as a candidate for the Republican nomination for President, in an address at the Baker Hotel before a dinner audience of 600, of whom at least 200 were prominent members of the Democratic Party. He was received with genuine cordiality by all.

Earlier at a luncheon he spoke before a smaller gathering, when he said that the continued existence of the republic depended upon the repudiation of the defeatist philosophy now permeating the national government.

At last night's meeting Gov. Bricker made perhaps the most complete statement thus far of his attitude toward the post-war international question, when he said that what we are able to do in the post-war world will be determined by domestic policy.

"A Republican victory in November," said Gov. Bricker, "will mean the recapture of the spirit of private enterprise in the United States. We must recapture the spirit of self-government. When the war is over we will free the individual American citizen from the domination of government."

"We will restore to the American citizen his right to appeal to the courts from the arbitrary and oppressive rules and regulations of an arrogant bureaucracy. We will take from this arrogant bureaucracy the policy-making power of government, and return it to the elected representatives of the people."

First Aid Course Offered JVA

Boys and girls of the Junior Victory Army between 12 and 15 in Greater Boston are taking quick advantage of the offer to obtain a free junior course in first aid from the Boston Metropolitan chapter of the American Red Cross.

This is indicated by response to the recent invitation of W. D. Dyer, supervisor of first aid instruction, who directs the program of the Red Cross in Greater Boston.

All JVA members of the prescribed age are welcome to enroll for this important study. Those who complete the course will receive attractive certificates and be classified as Junior First Aiders, Dyer says.

To obtain complete information, members should call at the Red Cross First Aid Service, 575 Boylston st., Boston, or phone KENmore 8160.

The training consists of 18 or 20 one-hour classes in control of bleeding, bandaging, artificial respiration, burns and other injuries.

"We'll be glad to have JVA members take this valuable training," Dyer says. "It will cost them nothing and they will be prepared on completing the course to save a life in any kind of accident."

To join the JVA, send your name and address to Junior Victory Army headquarters, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin, well wrapped in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Wednesday's Daily Record.

Making room for more FIGHTING FREIGHT along the Santa Fe

Action at Barstow, California

This is only one of the key points along the Santa Fe where the yards are being enlarged to handle more freight loaded for war. At this point the yards are being increased from 18 to 31 tracks; beds for some of them were blasted out of solid rock.

Santa Fe is building for the time when "it's all over" in Europe, so we can do our part in helping our military forces throw a bigger load at the enemy in the Pacific.

Santa Fe yards at many important points in California have been enlarged to handle many more trains, and sidings are being lengthened to handle more cars.

Centralized Traffic Control systems are being installed at congested points to conserve manpower and to speed up vital shipments.

Water towers in the desert have been doubled in capacity to refresh twice as many thirsty locomotives.

Modern cafeterias and dormitories have been built to feed and house Santa Fe's ever-growing army of workmen.

It was an artillery base and there I found my daily quota of New Englanders. I have never, as yet, failed to receive courteous treatment at these Army outposts or to find someone who knows someone from home whom I know.

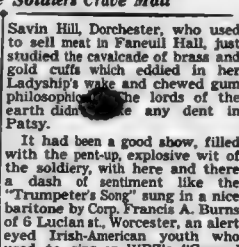

So here was Chaplain James G. Kenney, a Redemptorist from the Mission Church in Roxbury, that tall, twin-spired shrine in Tremont st., who talked of George Carens' law. Also Chaplain Mulhearn from the Sacred Heart Church of Rox-lindale. These two, like all the field priests attached to combat units, take their daily dosages in the bleak country on the level with the men, asking no favors and thereby winning a spiritual respect that no sermon in itself ever scored.

It was a mixed New England bag at this artillery station, which goes out to fire over a barren, deserted range where the heavy calibers kick up the black soil and send their thunderous echoes flying through the valleys. There was a ruddy-faced youth named Pfc. Jordan A. Rosen of 22 Wisconsin st., Somerville, a recent student in industrial management at North-eastern University.

Also Pvt. Nathan Yaffe of 25 Angel st., Dorchester, a fur-chasing agent for the Manchester Dyeing Co.

That Good News Grin

Trucks and heavy equipment had churned the damp ground to a chocolate fudge, and all the men wore heavy brogans smeared with waterproofing dubbin—a greasy mixture that they hate because they cannot ever get a polish on their boots. And everybody wears steel helmets here, all of the outdoor time. "They want us to get the helmet habit," explained a pair of Meriden, Ct., boys—Pvt. James F. Carter and Corp. Boleslaus Laskarzewski.

I asked Pvt. Raymond A. Smith of 22 Winsor st., Worcester, a lad whom the long arm of the draft had plucked out of Trade School last year, what the soldier craved most, and you know the answer—mail! Another Worcesterite, 1st Lieut. Martin Kulesa (Cuh-lee-sah) of 87 Millbury st., an old pre-war Army man who enlisted in '32 and worked his way up, laughed.

"D'ja ever watch a crowd of Savin Hill, Dorchester, who used to sell meat in Faneuil Hall, just studied the cavalcade of brass and gold cuffs which eddied in her Ladyship's wake and chewed gum philosophically. The lords of the earth didn't see any dent in Patsy.

It had been a good show, filled with the pent-up, explosive wit of the soldiery, with here and there a dash of sentiment like the "Trumpeter's Song" sung in a nice baritone by Corp. Francis A. Burns of 6 Lucian st., Worcester, an alert-eyed Irish-American youth who used to sing on WBZ's "Ground Gripper" program. The hall of red-gowned invalids, so uproarious a moment ago, was silent as he sang. The U. S. soldier swings between opposite poles of emotion.

I don't mean to paint the men in this division over with false chivalry. But I honestly report that whatever the relations between the natives and the U. S. troops may be elsewhere, and there have been some unedifying tales, these divisionnaires are solid with the local citizenry.

They won the hearts of the children at Christmas time with area-wide parties in which they gave away their "sweets" rations and made toys for more than 10,000 youngsters. Perhaps it is due to division command policy, but I've seen a score of courtesies exchanged, such as truck drivers inching through puddled roads when passing pedestrians, to avoid splashing them with muck. And one notices that the folk hereabouts nod affably to the men. It's a sign of well-trained troops. (Read Austin Lake's gripping story of New England boys tomorrow.)

Back the Bond Drive

"I AM GOING TO DO MY PART!" If every American adopts that resolution and lives up to it, the Fourth War Loan Campaign will be a tremendous success.

Both the Massachusetts quota of $794,000,000 and the national quota of $14,000,000,000 will be fully subscribed long before the Treasury Department expects.

And our fighting sons on the war fronts will have the food, ammunition and equipment they need to overwhelm the enemy and end this horrible war before it becomes unbearably costly in blood and money.

Not only are War Bonds a safe investment but they have the added attraction of providing a welcome opportunity for every man, woman and child to stand loyally behind the troops in the battle zones.

The purchase of a $100 Bond may require a considerable amount of personal sacrifice for the average person, but the giving up of luxuries and even of necessities will be well worthwhile if it brings our boys home a day sooner.

A Shame and a Disgrace

FOURTEEN persons were killed last week on Massachusetts highway, doubling the toll of the corresponding week a year ago and indicating that 1944 is going to be more tragic than 1943 so far as fatal automobile accidents are concerned.

Three of the fourteen victims were children, two of whom were killed while coasting.

With fewer vehicles on the roads and reduced speed mandatory, traffic deaths should decline to the lowest point in fifteen years. But it looks as if they were going to reach a new high mark.

It is the clarity of every police department to enforce the safety law and impose caution on motorists who fail to practice it of their own accord.

The motorist who persists in operating his car in a dangerous manner should lose his driving privileges not for a few days, BUT FOR THE REST OF HIS LIFE.

And the patrolman who is either too lax or too lazy to arrest and prosecute these law-breaking motorists should be retired to some sort of job more suited to his incompetence.

The Massachusetts highway death toll is a shame and a disgrace.

The time for ignoring it has long since passed.

The needless slaughter of pedestrians and children must be stopped.

Spare the National Anthem

THE STRAINS of Igor Stravinsky's altered version of "The Star-Spangled Banner," as rendered by the Boston Symphony Orchestra, have died away but widespread public resentment lingers on.

It is unlikely that either Mr. Stravinsky or the orchestra will be encouraged ever again to take liberties with the national anthem in Massachusetts.

Tampering with the national anthem is never to be recommended, certainly not in the midst of a war.

Rabbi Barnett Brickner, who visited thousands of United States troops overseas, warns us that "American fighting men are terribly afraid they won't find the things they cherish when they return home."

We hate to think of what men in that frame of mind would say if they turned on the radio and discovered that the national anthem, which is supposed to be symbolic of America, had undergone a revision.

Mr. Stravinsky may play other music according to his whim and fancy.

But he should leave "The Star-Spangled Banner" alone.

Universal Military Training

WE HAVE long advocated compulsory military training for American youth.

It is therefore with considerable satisfaction that we find Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox saying:

There is no safety or peace in unpreparedness. I believe thoroughly that one of the best measures we can take to insure that our individual liberties will be preserved and that free Americans will remain free, is to require that every boy, when he attains the age of 17 or 18, shall be required to spend at least one year in training on land or at sea against the possibility that sometime in the future his services may be required to help protect the country.

The great majority of Americans who remember the frenzied preparations that followed the outbreak of the current war and who recall Pearl Harbor will not have to be told that Mr. Knox is right.

They will also agree with his further argument that: "No one should be exempt. Rich and poor, boys from the city and boys from the farm, boys of all races and religions, all should be made to shoulder a common responsibility of personal preparedness as a shield for the future security of our country."

THIS IS in answer to the request of a Brooklynite for a poem to quote at his china wedding. I suppose you know what anniversary the china wedding is? If you are married and do not know, your ignorance should cause you to blush. . . . Three hundred more German air instructors have been sent to Japan to train Japanese flyers. The Nazis have a lot to answer for in encouraging and aiding those barbarians the way they have. . . . Is announced that nonglare automobile headlights will be on all automobiles made after the war. That will be about time. We should have had nonglare headlights long ago. Thousands of lives would have been saved. . . . A conscientious objector gets honorable discharge papers from the U. S. Army which are identical with those of the fighting soldiers. That doesn't seem right. In any event, the American Legion doesn't like the idea and is protesting it strongly. There should be special noncombatant discharge papers.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS:
Q—How do you figure the Boston Braves of 1914 the best ball club of all time? A—I didn't say they were. I said that outfit was my favorite ball club of all time. I was thinking of its fighting qualities. Q—Bet you don't know another fellow whose fight name is Keenan. A—You lose. There's Keenan Wynne, son of Ed Wynne. He is named after that great actor, Frank Keenan.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: As to the best states for fishing, a resident of Minneapolis says they are: 1, Minnesota; 2, Wisconsin; 3, Michigan; 4, Oregon; 5, Maine. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Breiner of Blandinsville, Ill., have 11 daughters, all living. No doubt the Breiners girls have a lot of fun borrowing and trying on each other's clothes. Daughters are more expensive to bring up than sons but they are usually more loyal to their parents in after life than sons. As the old rhyme has it: "Your son is your son until he gets him a wife, but your daughter is your daughter for the rest of her life." . . . A maid in De Kalb, Ill., says she cooks for six people, washes and irons, and tends the furnace. For this she gets seven dollars a week and her keep and she says she is contented.

SAYS SHE: "When you say there should be a stylish stout film star so women with that type of figure could get clothes hints and that fashion magazines and the clothing industry should pay more attention to the larger ladies, brother, you are cooking with gas," writes a stylish stout subscriber of Chicago. "We belong to the legion of forgotten women. We poor 'half sizes'. And we are the easiest women in the world to live with. We make our husbands comfortable, our children happy, our homes places to relax in. But we can never become glamour girls because we simply can't get suitable clothing. And why should such a condition exist? Lillian Russell was a bit on the hefty side but wasn't she a stunner for looks! Give us the right clothing and I'm telling you right now the lean, hungry looking type of womanhood will just have to take a back seat."

BRIEFLY: Kansas City, Mo., now boldly claims to be the largest cattle and calf market in the world and says that Chicago is second. Sounds like fighting words to me. . . . Am asked if I remember names well. Not any too well. My memory seems to function best in remembering such things as that Joe E. Brown once appeared in a musical show called "Twinkle Toes" and that the Boston National League baseball team once had a tennis player named Joshua Crane for a manager.

SIDELIGHTS: As for songs about food which have nothing to do with love, an Alameda, Cal., client mentions "Mamma's Goin' to Make Shortenin' Bread," "You've Got to Eat Spinach, Baby," "Jelly Roll Blues," "Who Threw the Overalls in Mrs. Murphy's Chowder?" and "You're the Cream in My Coffee." Very good, except the last named which is, of course, a love song. . . . Detroit says: "Louisa Drew, grandmother of the Barrymores, was on the stage 72 years. Is this the record?" If it is, it has been tied by a man you probably have seen on the screen. That is Harry Davenport, brother of the great Fanny Davenport, who has been on stage and screen 72 years.

My Day By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Monday, Jan. 17.—Yesterday we had several people at lunch with us. At seven o'clock, I went to speak at a regular Sunday evening supper group at St. John's Church. After that I joined other members of our family at the Attorney General and Mrs. Biddle's house to hear Mr. George Biddle tell of his experiences in the European theater of war. Today I am on my way to New Brunswick, N. J., where I am to speak first for the New Jersey College for Women, and in the evening I will speak for the Fourth War Loan drive at a meeting in the village which the Eiler Foundation of Rutgers University has been instrumental in arranging.

I SHALL GET into New York City very late this evening, but as I have a few people to see there tomorrow morning, it seemed better to go on tonight than to stay in New Brunswick.

I was much interested in talking to Miss Mary Pickford the other day when she told me that she had adopted two children, a seven-year-old boy and a baby girl who is now 17 months old. I had just received a letter in the mail which drew to my attention the fact that while many people were willing to adopt babies, or children under three or four years old, the institutions found it very difficult to place children over six.

THE WRITER ASKED me if I would not suggest to people who have lost loved ones in this war, that it would be a great advantage if they would take a child into their homes, and bring him up in memory of the one who is not returning.

It seems to me a wonderful idea, although I realize that when people who have lost members of the family who are grown it may be almost impossible to go back to the days and conditions of life in which they were prepared to bring up youngsters.

Hollywood

Distributed by International News Service
HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 18.—Hold your breath while I toss the next Walter Wanger movie at you. It's "Salome—Where She Dances"—and before the censors start shaking their shears at Universal, let me quickly explain that "Salome—Where She Dances" refers to the name of a lusty California community, mentioned by writers in Frances Langford the Bret Harte-Mark Twain era, who wrote about the town doings shortly after the Civil War.

Wanger owns this story, authored by Michael J. Phillips, in partnership with John Ford, who had planned to direct it before he went into the Navy. One of the most important things about the deal is that Laurence Stallings will do the screenplay. He knows how to write gussy scripts since he co-authored the famed "What Price Glory." Stallings, who went back into the Marine Corps after Pearl Harbor, was injured and is now on the inactive list with the rank of lieutenant-colonel.

SOMETIMES I CAN scarcely believe that Frances Langford, gracious lovely chosen by Associated Press as one of the 10 outstanding women of 1944, is the same little Frances who made her Hollywood debut in "Hollywood Hotel" with Dick Powell and this writer. She always sang like a bird, but in those days she was so thin and not well and frightened of the mike. Today she is one of Hollywood's most sought-after entertainers, and with such poise and beauty, Frances is to be starred in "Dixie Showboat," a P. R. C. musical to be directed by Christy Cabanne and produced by Jack Schwartz.

I AM SURE Lou Costello must now be entirely well after a year of terrible illness because he has arranged such a heavy schedule. He and his partner, Bud Abbott, go to M-G-M next week for fittings on their picture "Harum Scarum." That's the picture which was ready to go when Lou became ill last year. As soon as they finish at M-G-M they return to Universal to make "Abbott and Costello in Society" and after that they make "Bottoms Up"—all in 1944. So with that schedule it would take a 100 per cent well man.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: You've heard of trial marriages, but ill wager that Arthur Hornblow's "engagement" arrangement with Bubbles Schinasi is the first of its kind. They have a trial romance separation, made when he was in New York last week. He and Bubbles have agreed to separate for six months, without writing, telephoning or communicating with each other in any way. If, at the end of that time, they are still madly in love, well, they'll marry. Arthur has been married twice, first to Juliette Crosby, then to Myrna Loy. Bubbles' ex is Lieut. Wayne Morris, so neither wants to make a mistake.

DIGGING FOR a story on whether Columbia would produce "Kiss and Tell," I stumbled on an interesting turn of events. Columbia will not produce "Kiss and Tell," but they will release it. That brings up the story of a new company in which George Abbott is executive producer and Sol Siegel associate producer. F. Hugh Herbert, who wrote this charming stage comedy, is writing the screen play.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Arturo De Cordova takes a vacation soon in Mexico City to see his wife and children. He is reconciling with her after a separation of several years; Marsha Hunt is a happy girl. Her husband, Jerry Hopper, has been promoted to captain; Dinah Shore and George Montgomery have been haunting the auction shops to buy things for their home; Capt. Johnny McKee, the hero who bailed out over France and walked over the Pyrenees to safety, has been enjoying the company of Bonita Granville.

Boston After Dark

EXCLUSIVE: Former Mayor Robert E. Greenwood of Fitchburg, who withdrew from the U. S. senatorial race in 1938 to give Cong. Curley a clear field against Sen. Lodge, is to be married again . . . The bride-to-be is Miss Lois Lane of Lynn . . . Mr. Greenwood was married to the former Judith Coolidge, daughter of U. S. Sen. Marcus Coolidge, also of Fitchburg . . . Their divorce becomes final on April 1 . . . The Greenwood-Lane nuptials will take place two days later on Monday, April 3, and the ceremony is tentatively scheduled to take place in New York.

THERE'S BEEN A CHANGE in the public relations department of American Airlines, Inc. . . . Nelson Rose is the new Boston publicity chief, and Ross Angier has been promoted to a job in New York . . . The amazing Michael Todd has secured the Winter Garden, which can hold about $45,800 in cash customers at a scale of $3.50 top, for his triumphant "Mexican Hayride" (which is breaking records here) . . . On the face of it, that means merely that the astute Mr. Todd has gotten himself the most capacious first-line theater in New York for a show that looms all over a hit.

BUT CONSIDER WHAT had to be done before that maneuver was concluded satisfactorily . . . "The Ziegfeld Follies" was berthed in the Winter Garden until Mr. Todd put in his bid . . . And "One Touch of Venus," a resounding hit, was ensconced at the Imperial, also a ranking musical comedy house . . . Well, when Mr. Todd's "Mexican Hayride" opens Monday next at the Winter Garden, this will be the "housing" situation: "The Ziegfeld Follies" will have been moved to the Imperial; "One Touch of Venus" will have been picked up bodily from the Imperial's stage and set upon the stage of the 46th Street Theater . . . "Rosalinda," which was enjoying very good business at the 46th Street, will have taken to the road—to Boston, in fact . . . These complicated and expensive transfers came about because Mr. Todd had an option on the Imperial, but preferred the larger Winter Garden and was able to convince Lee Shubert that "Mexican Hayride" would draw more money at the Winter Garden than "The Follies" . . . And of course he is right, as "The Follies" is no longer selling out.

COL. AL SOMERBY MUST BE blushing this week . . . Scarlett Kelly is starring at his Old Howard Theater, and Red Marshall is the comedy star of the Somerby-bossed Globe Theater . . . (The feeble gag would be better, we admit, if Miss Kelly spelled her professional first name with only one "t").

BECAUSE THE SPORTSMEN'S SHOW usually plays a nine-day engagement in Boston, curtailment of the run this year to five days will leave hundreds of Sportsmen's Shows fans disappointed—unless they visit the Boston Arena between 1 p. m. and 11 p. m. today . . . Today is absolutely the final day of the show.

SUMNER K. WILEY, regional director of the Federal Public Housing Authority, is a grandfather, his daughter, the former Marjorie Wiley of 271 Waban Ave., Newton, having given birth to a son at the Wallace Memorial Hospital in Missouri. Miss Wiley was married on the night of the Coconut Grove disaster to 1st Lieut. Robert G. Prentice of Adrian, Mich., who is stationed at Ft. Leonard Wood in Missouri. The couple met while they were attending Wooster College in Ohio, where Prentice starred in football. The baby, born just before the midnight stroke on New Year's Eve, is named Joan Elizabeth Prentice.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—Your stars tell us you are cool, deliberate in method. But are often too self-conscious and if at any time would lack funds, would tend to live more exclusively. Should overcome any fear of ridicule. Usually not impulsive; always seeking more knowledge, learning. Birthdate of: Daniel Webster, American statesman, orator; (Henry) Austin Dobson, noted English poet, man of letters; Olga Nethersole, Cary Grant, actors of note.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 (AP)—"I didn't much mind the burglar stealing my silver carving set or my piggy bank full of coins," Mrs. Edna May Smith told police, "but what really broke my heart was . . ."

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Mrs. OYeta Culp Hobby hasn't asked me—in fact, nobody has asked me—but for some time I have been nurturing a little private theory on how enlistment in the WAC might be stimulated. I think a great many more young women would respond to the call of the armed forces if the WAC would manage three things, to wit:

1.—Stop calling it the WAC. Call it the United States Army.

2.—Have the officer personnel chiefly male.

3.—Change the uniform. I think these are important in the order named and if the two first items could be accomplished possibly the third wouldn't matter, for it is minor as things stand. Girls do not join the WAC for reasons of glamour; if they had style in mind they wouldn't join at all, they would stay home and concentrate on keeping up with the fashion periodicals.

But I think item one is extremely pertinent. I think the name WAC (even without the punnish connotation, which makes it perfect fodder for cartoonists and radio comics) constitutes a mental hazard for any serious-minded girl who is thinking of joining up.

THE SECOND item is fairly important, too, I think, but probably not very much can be done about it even if anyone wanted to. It is my theory—although I know the ardent feminists will cuss me out for it—that the majority of women, given their choice of having a man or a woman as a superior, will inevitably choose the man. This is true in civilian life, and I see no reason why it would not hold equally for those engaged in military pursuits.

By Dorothy Kilgallen

Star Shine

By Sidney Skolsky

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 18.—While patrolling the Hollywood beat, you and I must drop into Romanoff's during the lunch hour, which at Romanoff's extends far into the afternoon until it blends into what they call the cocktail hour. We're going to Romanoff's, not for lunch, but to look at the stock company that's gathered there daily and could be labeled "The Romanoff Players."

No matter what day you select to go to Romanoff's, Prince Mike will be there to greet you, and the stock company will be assembled in the various booths. You are certain to see Michael Arlen and Ludwig Bemelmans and Louis Shurr and Otto Preminger. There is Otto Preminger sitting in a booth with a lady, and further back in another booth there is Mrs. Preminger dining with a gentleman. It's all part of the "Nontime Follies" at Romanoff's.

There are numerous actresses in this Romanoff stock company and there are guest stars. The guest stars may vary but they are of the same type. They make their appearance for about a week and then disappear from the regular cast. The type is the beautiful young actress who has just arrived in town, having been signed by a studio. This week the guest star is Chili Williams, the model.

WHILE WE'RE on tour, let's you and I visit another restaurant, The Players, which sits on Sunset Blvd., immediately before that section known as "The Strip," which is inhabited by agents, row on row.

"The Players" is the restaurant that is owned by Preston Sturges, and a legend of the town is that Sturges started the restaurant, realizing that he was going to lose money, but that he wanted a restaurant where he could eat what he liked with his friends.

This legend is strictly false, for Sturges built this restaurant to have a winner, and now it is so crowded that even Preston has to phone to get reservations.

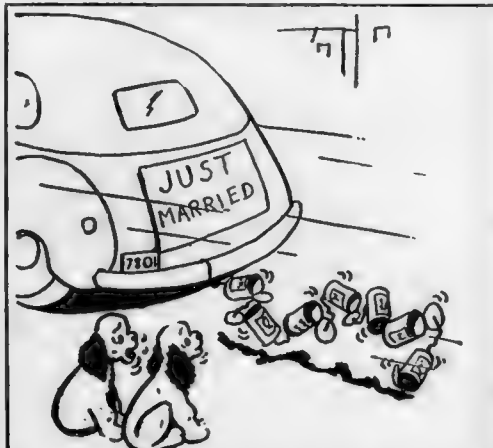

The Players has a clientele all its own, unlike any other restaurant in town. There, sitting on the outdoor balcony, overlooking Hollywood, every afternoon and evening you will find a collection of actors, actresses, directors and writers who used to gather in the same manner, around the sidewalk cafe tables in Vienna.

The Players, so I'm told, is good old Vienna. There they sit, the same old mob, discussing art and literature and, of course, salaries. They are all there, except Molnar—and he is expected.

Add Little Glamour To Wartime Meals

By MARTHA LEE

WE THINK it is time that all cooks took a tip from fashion editors. The clothes which are featured in newspapers and magazines are designed to meet wartime clothing regulations. Alternates are being used in fashion as well as food. But nobody mentions this—they talk about the charm of the new designs and emphasize that here is a dress or a hat or a coat that is at once practical and glamorous.

There is a hint for homemakers here. Don't keep reminding your family that their meals have undergone wartime changes. Ignore the "stretchers" and the "alternates." Refrain from telling how you have to juggle points to achieve well-planned meals. When you spring a new dish on the dinner table, don't say, "I hope you like this. It only uses one pound of sausage. We didn't have enough points for steak." Everyone will immediately view the platter sadly and be prejudiced because it isn't steak.

SERVE WITH GLAMOUR

Plan your meals with a thought to wartime food conditions but serve them up with glamour. Arrange the food attractively and present it with a flourish. Say, "Bill, I fixed this just for you. It uses both sausages and apples—two of your favorites!"

SAUSAGE AND APPLE PATTIES

1½ cups whole wheat cereal
½ cup milk ½ tsp. salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
½ lb. ground raw beef
½ lb. pork sausage
¼ tsp. pepper
2 medium apples
2 tbsp. minced onion

Combine whole wheat shreds, milk, eggs; let soak until most of moisture is absorbed. Add meat, seasonings and onion, mix together thoroughly. Divide mixture into 12 equal portions and form into patties. Pare, core and slice apples crosswise. Put apple slice between two patties and press together. Bake in shallow pan in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) 30 to 35 minutes or until meat is done and apple is tender. Makes 6 servings.

In Crown Roast of Weiners the lowly hot dog achieves new heights and becomes a royal dish. No one will think of its practical value unless you bring the subject up.

CROWN ROAST OF WEINERS

1½ lbs. weiners (about 24 weiners)

Cereal bread stuffing

Thread weiners through center on a string, tie ends of string and stand frankfurters on end in shape of crown on a rack in roasting pan or in deep casserole. Fill center with stuffing. Bake in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 25 minutes. Makes 8 servings.

CEREAL BREAD STUFFING

12 cups ½-inch bread cubes
1 cup shredded bran cereal
3 tbsp. minced onion
½ cup melted fat
2 tsp. salt ½ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. poultry seasoning
1½ cups stock or water

Combine bread cubes with bran cereal. Saute onion in fat and add to bread. Add seasonings and stock. Mix well. Makes sufficient stuffing for crown roast or for large turkey.

There is no butter in Butter-scotch Squares but who is to know if you don't tell them? They will be thinking of the good nutty flavor and the grand crunchy texture.

BUTTERSCOTCH SQUARES

2 eggs ½ tsp. salt
½ cup shredded bran cereal
1 tsp. vanilla extract
½ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup sifted flour
½ cup chopped nut meats

Beat eggs until light. Add bran cereal, salt and flavoring and let stand 10 minutes. Blend shortening and sugar together thoroughly; stir in soaked bran cereal. Add flour and nut meats, mix well. Spread in greased baking pan and bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) about 30 minutes. Makes 16 2-inch squares (8x8-inch pan).

You Should Pay For Call

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN—Yesterday I had to wait so long in my doctor's office that I saw I must not be able to keep an appointment I had made for luncheon. So I asked his office nurse if I might telephone. I did not offer to pay for the call, and my husband insists this was rude and unbusinesslike. We have decided to ask what your opinion is.

MARY. I agree with your husband that you should have arranged with the doctor's nurse to pay for the call. This is businesslike—and considerate.

Fashion

NECKLINES ARE OF extreme significance in the new fashions these days... This ultra-feminine treatment of the yoke idea... on Film Star Claudette Colbert's full-sleeved blouse... is dressy and smart... and very flattering with girlish charm. The cut-out eyelet pattern is pertly projected beyond the shoulder line... like the spread of little white wings on an angel. R. M.

Beauty Freshens, Tones the Skin

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

IN HOLLYWOOD, the beauty experts say it is a positive must in the correct care of the skin... At the beauty counters, the cosmeticians echo the cinema capital's sentiments... In the beauty salons, the girl who gives you a facial makes it an absolute necessity in the routine... A skin fresher, I mean... which does exactly what it says... freshens and tones the skin. Whether you are taking off your makeup at night... or, cleaning your face in the morning... to remove what the sebaceous and sweat glands have thrown off while you're asleep... the skin must be toned with a skin fresher... or astringent... to give your face that aglow feeling... to wash away the last faint film of cleansing cream.

In the cinema capital... where makeup is truly an art... and where the bewitching glamour gals swear by their makeup artists... the beauty experts use a skin tonic lavishly... for its invigorating action leaving the skin immaculately clean... pleasantly cool... and fresh as a daisy... ready for the day's application of makeup.

This particular skin fresher is a revitalizing agent... for it not only wakes up the skin... but dispels that morose, "tired" look. No beauty table is complete without a bottle of skin tone... for it is a final touch to skin cleanliness... a bracer to stimulate surface circulation.

HELPS IN MANY WAYS

For those of you who see the traces of a double chin... or sagging under-chin muscles... a cotton pad soaked in this mild astringent... and held under the chin for five minutes nightly does much toward correction. For the girls who pluck their own eyebrows... this lotion is a beauty table must... It will act as a mild antiseptic... and tone the skin for less painful plucking... Used after plucking... it will hasten the withdrawal of reddened surfaces.

To correctly use this skin fresher... first squeeze a pad of cotton out in cold water to make it more absorbent... then saturate the moistened pad with the solution and wash your face and neck thoroughly... Squeeze the pad dry, reverse it... and pat briskly upward and outward until the skin is dry.

Once you have used this skin fresher, you will never again be without it... for it is indispensable in every treatment. It's a priceless beauty adjunct... in the economy cost class. This refreshing liquid will close the pores, tone and stimulate the tissues leaving them susceptible for makeup.

For the name of this skin toner-upper, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, except the weekend, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SKIN FRESHER... does exactly that... It freshens and tones the skin into a healthy glow... In Hollywood... where makeup is an advanced art... the correct care of the skin must necessarily include the use of a skin toner-upper... or astringent... Film Star Jean Arthur uses it lavishly on her face and neck... to give her that pure and cool feeling.

New Jewelry Is Pretty

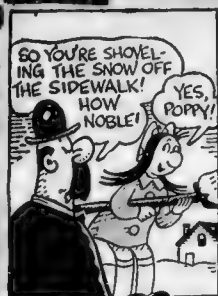

By BETTINA BEDWELL

AS FULL of sentiment as a love scene, the new costume jewelry for Spring 1944, is mighty sweet and pretty too. I'm thankful for one thing. Jewelry designers have stopped making that so-called modernistic jewelry that looks like a problem in arithmetic. This spring they are using old-fashioned heart-pulling symbols, like hearts and flowers, and the result is going to please you, I am sure. It is going to be a spring when you'll wear a locket on a gold chain and feel right in style. You are likely to wear earrings, for they are very much in favor. The necklace and earrings sketched are new ones, from Nettie Rosenstein, and they are gold, the heart-shaped pendants being pierced to let fall jewels in color.

Dunham Dances Sizzling Hot

By PEGGY DOYLE

It was a hot time in the old town last night, the weather forecast to the country notwithstanding.

Responsible for the heat wave was Katherine Dunham, dancer-anthropologist who is as distinguished as she is distracting. She started a heat wave here last night with the opening of her "Tropical Revue" at the Boston Opera House.

This venerable stamping-ground of temperament and million-dollar tonils has sizzled with a very torrid operatic drama but it is extremely doubtful that sex has ever before been unleashed with such complete abandon within its historical reaches.

"Tropical Revue" is as hot as its title and understandably a smash-hit (Miss Dunham left Broadway at the peak of a 12-week run, forced out by New York's critical theater censorship). Chicago's Rosenwald Foundation financed Miss Dunham's anthropological researches in the Caribbean which spawned the low-down rumbas, raffish boogie-woogie, African-inspired rhythms, Melanesian dances and correspondingly sultry West Indies tunes and back-grounds.

Miss Dunham has magnificent and exuberant support from a company of 50, including the Original Dixieland Band, Bobby Capo, a good-looking Latin who is South America's Bing Crosby; the Leonard Ware Trio and the Dunham dancers.

Most arresting in the Dunham dance repertoire is the controversial "Rites," celebrating the tribal initiation of a young boy into manhood and the privileges of a warrior in "Puberty Ritual" and the sacred rites of mating in "Fertility Ritual." The dances have a genuine emotional impact, pointed up by the gifted Paquita Anderson's music which is based on a Haitian theme. Tommy Gomez, as the boy initiate, and Roger Ohardieno, in the warrior role, are superb. In the marriage ritual sequence, Lavinia Williams and Laverne French distinguish themselves.

The "Woman With the Cigar" dance creation, which the ads had given provocative display, presents the scholarly Miss Dunham wearing a birdcage aloft and clinching a king-size Cuban cigar between her gleaming biceps as she swings her fluid body through the rhythms of a low-down rumba.

The third half of the program . . . and the program could be cut with benefit . . . is more popular than esthetic in its appeal with its jazz hot accent. The strut, Ballin' de Strut, Ballin' de Jack, the famed New Orleans Cakewalk and a group of plantation dances bearing such colorful tags as Jennie, Cooler, Tack Annie, Fallin' Off a Log, Juba and the Palmer House (suggested by the walk of the waiters at that celebrated Chicago hostelry) were well received.

24 Young Jockeys Needed For Racing, Says Adams

By JACK CONWAY

THE FLORIDA racing season, which has been jammed with color and soaring mutual handles, has proved that efforts should be made to develop more jockeys and that drastic changes should be made in the present claiming rule, according to President Charles F. Adams of Suffolk Downs.

"Good jockeys are vital to the success of racing," Adams told me, "and I do not believe that we are doing enough to develop them. I favor granting special weight concessions to men who ride their mounts with youngsters whom they have developed."

Chas. F. Adams

"I think racing will do better if more owners have riders whom they have brought up in the game as youngsters. I do not approve of a condition that finds most owners and trainers going to jockeys and their agents trying to get riders."

"I believe special weight allowances should be granted to jockeys who have never won a race, and to other allowances of weight depending on how many races a young jockey has won. The present rule gives five pounds to an apprentice rider regardless of what he has done."

"If an owner or a trainer who had developed a rider always got a special weight allowance for him when he rode, there would be an incentive to put time and money into teaching youngsters how to ride."

ADAMS HIT The present claiming rule which makes it necessary for a trainer to run his horse in a higher class if he has just been claimed.

"The $1000 horse," said Adams, "has to run for $1250 and so on up the line. The idea back of this rule is to put a penalty on a person claiming a horse. Naturally when a horse is moved up in class it is more difficult for him to win."

"There are some owners who would like to have a horse from racing for 60 days after he is claimed. Such a rule would be very ridiculous."

"I favor free claiming in races up to $2000. If a horse is claimed for $1000 let him run back at the same price the next day if his new owner wishes to enter him. I would place restrictions on claims of horses that cost $2000 or more."

"I still consider a $1000 horse only worth that much money regardless of what type of race in which he is entered. There was a case at Hialeah of where a horse with one bowed tendon was claimed for $4000. In his next race, the horse pulled up with two bowed tendons, and is of little value to his owner."

"Owners and trainers have gone wild in making claims. They are bidding over their heads for ordinary horses."

Horsemen Have $800,000

HORSEMEN AT Hialeah have plenty of money with which to make claims, said Adams.

"At one time there was $800,000 in the horseman's bank at Hialeah Park," asserted the head of Suffolk Downs. "They are reaching for every horse in sight."

"I like claiming races of the cheaper horses, and when no restrictions are placed on them the horsemen are satisfied."

"Florida has been having a big season. The Hialeah track is a second to second and a half slow, but is very safe. Tropical Park's track is much faster."

"I am convinced that New England will have another big racing season. Suffolk Downs will offer more purses than ever, and will feature our programs with the $5,000 Massachusetts Handicap and the $25,000 Mayflower Stakes."

Favors Basketball

ALBERT MCLELLAN, who was a star basketball player himself and later became one of the leading coaches in the country, believes that the Boston School Committee made a wise decision when it came out in favor of basketball. He considers it a fine sport for youngsters at this time. His opinion is shared by numerous other men who have been active in athletics.

McLellan played basketball at St. John's Prep, and later coached at St. John's Prep, Salem High, Providence College and St. Anselm's College. He rates with the leaders in his line.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 18 (AP)—Lynwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, veteran major league pitcher now owned by the Philadelphia Phillies, has been assigned to the Navy after passing his pre-induction physical examination here, it was announced.

We'll Knock Off B's, Leafs' Pilot Declares

By BILL GRIMES

"We didn't leave Jackie McLean and Tommy O'Neill at home to give Ross and you scribes an alibi, when we knock off the Bruins again tonight," declared Coach "Hap" Day of the Maple Leafs, who arrived here this morning.

"McLean and O'Neill are students at varsity (University of Toronto) and therefore only are able to make the odd trip."

In the two games they played here this season against the Bruins, McLean and O'Neill played aggressive hockey. They are a tough pair of kids, who stand ready and willing to take on any opponent regardless of weight or reputation. McLean played a few home games with the Leafs last season but O'Neill came up this fall from St. Mike's, where he was a defense man.

It would be unfair on the part of the hockey public to infer that McLean and O'Neill didn't make this trip because of the statement credited to Art Ross that the Bruins would "get" three Maple Leafs players to offset the loss of Bill Cowley, who was put out of action in the last game these clubs played in Toronto.

DON'T SCARE EASILY

From what I've seen and know of Jackie McLean and Tommy O'Neill, they don't scare easily.

"We didn't have McLean and O'Neill in any road games," continued Day, "until the Christmas holidays started at Varsity. Jackie played a Sunday night game in Chicago late in November and Tommy went with us to Detroit on Dec. 12, another Sunday, but he was back home in time to attend classes the next morning. In fact, Boston is the only city, other than Toronto, where McLean and O'Neill have played two games this season.

"The article, which started the stories about the Bruins going to get three Leafs for Cowley, first appeared in a Toronto paper. I saw Cowley in Toronto, and Bill's statement that he slipped against perfectly with my version of the accident."

"Having seen the whole thing, I couldn't and still can't understand why anyone should attempt to make Jackie McLean the goat. True, he plays rugged hockey but he shouldn't be 'typed' as a dirty player."

"And, after what has happened, the 'gag rule,' which calls for a heavy fine for 'any player, who gives to the press for publication any statement reflecting in any way on the conduct or performance of any official of the league, any club official or any player' should be revised to include coaches and managers. Why discriminate?"

KEEPS SAME LINES

Jack Ingoldsbay, who was sidelined when Don Webster began to click at left wing after Capt. Eab Davidson fractured his jaw, and Russ Johnstone, a 17-year-old defenseman, who was with the Rhode Island Reds until recently, came here with the Maple Leafs in lieu of Jackie McLean and Tommy O'Neill.

Manager Art Ross stated that Guy Labrie, Rick Kopak, Al Rittinger and Al Palazzari, who are up from the Olympics filling in during the Bruins' shortage of manpower, were very impressive.

Bert Gardiner, goalie, will not be in the Bruins nets tonight, having been called to Philadelphia, where his wife is seriously ill. Morris Couture, Pies goalie, will sub for Gardiner.

Silver Skates Aces, Future Hub Stars

Boston down through the years has produced more than its share of great American figure skaters.

There have been Maribel Vinson, Joan Tozzler, Polly Blodgett and Gretchen Merrill to name a few. And each winter finds new ice stars blazing to the front to keep the Hub right up there with the nation's leaders.

Youngsters like Jane Weiss, Kay Lindstrom, Elizabeth Conway, Sandylee Weille, Justin Smith, Rosemarie Clement and others will in the very near future be as well known as the favorites of old.

Proof of this will be forthcoming in the Ninth Annual American-Record Silver Skates Derby which will be unfolded at the Boston Garden a week from Sunday afternoon.

FOUR YOUNG STARS

From the Commonwealth Skating Club of Boston there will be no less than four brilliant young skaters who have come to the fore under the brilliant guidance of Ed Scholfield who has no superior as a figure skating teacher.

He will present Elizabeth Conway and Justin Smith in a pairs number while Jane Weiss, a two-year veteran of Silver Skates Derby fame although only 14, and Kay Lindstrom who will do solo numbers.

It will be the Derby bow for 11-year-old Elizabeth Conway of Boston and 10-year-old Justin Smith of Providence. These youngsters will appear in a "Touch of Old Boston"—skating to a Crinolone background which is certain to click.

The fact that Elizabeth and Justin are ready to appear in public at their age more than proves that Boston will continue leading the way on blades.

And now let's turn to the speed skating events.

Entries close Thursday at midnight and no post entries will be accepted.

Larkin III, Fight Off

The welterweight fight between Tippy Larkin and Izzy Jannazzo scheduled for Mechanics Hall Friday night has been postponed until February, it was announced last night by Matchmaker Eddie Mack of the Callahan A. C.

Larkin, the Garfield, N. J. boxer, was suffering a kidney ailment when he arrived here and after an examination by Dr. Isaac Klein of the State Boxing Commission, it was revealed that he was in no condition to battle.

In ruling Larkin unfit to fight, because of the injury he received in a bout with Bobby Ruffin in New York last Friday night, Commissioner Sam Smith declared that Larkin must fulfill his contract with Promoters Mack and Jack O'Brien before he engages in other contests.

Manager Angelo Pucci reported his fighter's injury following his arrival here, and Matchmaker Mack, who is ill at home, ordered the manager and boxer to appear before the commission for a check-up.

Larkin plans to rest the injury for at least three weeks before engaging Jannazzo.

Hub Schools Basketball Voted:

After an absence of over 30 years, basketball was finally given the green light to go ahead in Boston schools by a unanimous vote of the School Committee at the weekly meeting, last night.

The game was resurrected at the last meeting but was tabled for a week until the board had more chance to plan a constructive program.

The job of making out a schedule, getting the gyms and equipment, figuring out what the cost of such a program would be, etc., was handed to Joe McKenney, the associate director of athletics, and he presented his plan in full to the full board.

FAVORED WAITING

Several members were in favor of waiting until next year before tackling such a plan but Mike Ward, a member of the committee, asked for an immediate start plus sufficient money and the rest of the board voted with him.

The original plans called for 38 games to be played between Feb. 14 and the end of March but that was cut down to 49 to give the new coaches more time to work with their teams.

The present schedule has the City schools playing each other and the District schools doing the same in round-robin fashion starting around Feb. 14, and running for five weeks.

COACHES NAMED

The following were appointed as teacher-coaches: Steven Patten, Latin; John Fuller, Brighton; Walter O'Brien, Charlestown; George Barry, Dorchester; William McCarthy, East Boston; Arthur Sullivan, English; Eugene Plociennik, Commerce; William Dugan, Hyde Park; Fred Swan, Jamaica Plain; William Powers, Mechanic Arts; William Cunningham, Roslindale; John Keane, Memorial; Leo Banks, South Boston; Joseph Doherty, Trade; George Shepherd, Brandeis Vocational.

Hoppe Widens Lead

DETROIT, Jan. 18 (AP)—Willie Hoppe, world's three-cushion billiards champion, defeated Welker Cochran, the former champion, in both blocks of their 2150-point non-title match here, taking the opener 50 to 42 in 51 innings and the nightcap 50 to 22 in 42.

Name Speaker For All Banquet

Paul Swaffield, former Brown University athlete and now recognized as one of the outstanding football officials in the East, will be a guest speaker at the annual banquet for the members of the Boston Evening American-Daily Record All-Scholastic football team Monday night at the Hotel Lenox.

Swaffield has long been recognized as a top-notch after-dinner speaker and his string of stories of the gridiron will assure the guests of plenty of entertainment.

Invitations have been sent to the members of the Board of Coaches who picked the team as well as the players themselves. Members of the official all team have been invited to bring along a male guest to share in the evening's fun. The boys will be presented with All-Scholastic packets by the James W. Brine Sporting Goods Co., Summer st., and with gold, engraved football charms.

Pics Face Big Test Against Cutters

The Olympics will be put to test of the year at the Garden Friday and Saturday evenings when they try to prolong their winning ways by defeating the Coast Guard Cutters, erstwhile Eastern League champions.

Although the Bostonians now boast a winning streak of 14 consecutive victories, they will enter the Coast Guard series a distinct underdog. Several of their ace operatives will still be wearing the Bruins' spangles, when the Cutters arrive in town.

Sports Show Diver's Advice

If you'd like to be an acrobatic diver—one talented enough to keep the audience in an uproar while you're performing on the high board—learn tumbling first. That's the advice given by Larry Griswold, who has been vowing children and adults alike at the Sportsman's Show which closes its five-day run at the Arena tonight.

Larry is a Cedar Rapids, Iowa, boy. He learned to swim at Ft. Madison on the muddy Mississippi, learned the rudiments of diving off the Santa Fe bridge there. At 17 he had plunged into the Father of Waters from a height of 43 feet but didn't try backflips or somersaults until he attended high school.

"Tumbling was part of our gym course there," said Larry, who became so enamored of the sport that he captained Iowa University's gym team in his senior year (1930), and captured the Big Ten individual title.

"I made the diving team, too," he added, "but since the sports conflicted I gave more time to gym."

Larry never thought at the time he'd become a professional diver. He had been majoring in physical education and upon graduation coached basketball and swimming at Woodcrest Prep, in New York's Bronx.

17-Year-Old and Hands Teddy First Demerits

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Approved by Office of Public Relations, U. S. Navy. Copyright, 1944, by Boston Sunday Advertiser-American.

PENSACOLA, Fla., Monday, Dec. 27 (Delayed)—Dawned warm and bright. Welcome relief from the Christmas deluge. Perhaps a chance to play "Mary's Little Lamb" to Ted Williams came the thought as I tramped on a bedroom spider. So away to Sauley Field, though considerably later than the 5:30 reveille.

As the campus of the air college was reached the cadets were at exercise. Sure enough, there was Ted in trunks and "T" shirt, jogging around the field with the rest, his goosey neck bobbing about like a cork on a wave.

"Be with you in a minute," he shouted as the field moved ahead of him perceptibly.

"Thought you were fast," I ventured as we repaired to his room. "Aw, I didn't feel like running today. Look at this." On his dresser was a notice from Lieut. Cunningham that he had been selected five demerits and one hour's marching on the area for not making his bed that morning.

WANTED CLEAR RECORD

"First demerits I've received since I enlisted," he fumed. "Wasn't entirely my fault, either. They changed plans hurriedly this morning, ordered us to the 'pressure chamber' at the main base, and our formation was called 20 minutes early. What makes it worse, I was just appointed room captain last night. Gee, I wanted to go through with a clean record."

Ted showered and scampered off to navigation class. Downstairs standing guard was Jennings McDaniels, 17-year-old second class seaman from Palatka, Fla.

"I gave it to him," said McDaniels proudly. "Fellow's got to be on the ball in the Navy. He says to me when he sees it getting late: 'Help me with the bed kit, and I say 'Don't give me that kid stuff. You're in the Navy now. Make your own bed.' He had 40 minutes to shave, breakfast (across the lot) and clean up his room. What does he want, all day?"

This was historical. A 17-year-old giving Williams the business. Must visit Lieut. Cunningham and see if five demerits are serious. He's across the area in barracks, 837 Young husky chap, former Hardin-Simmons athlete. He knew Ted well. Had been his boxing instructor at Chapel Hill.

60 DEMERITS TO WASH OUT

"Nothing to get excited about," he replied. And we discovered it took 60 demerits to "wash out" a cadet, and since Williams was leaving for Whiting Field in a week or 10 days there was little danger of him piling up 60. "You know," Cunningham added, "if a cadet didn't get a demerit once in a while I'd think there was something wrong with him. But those beds have to be made before class, 40 minutes or 60 minutes."

Williams can use his dukes, Cunningham revealed. "I didn't box with him privately," he said, "but you may recall Allie Wolfe, old intercollegiate champion from Penn State." Yes, indeed. "Well, he and Ted not only played hand-to-hand but did a lot of boxing. Allie says Ted's got a lot on the ball. I know he can punch. Saw that in class."

A familiar figure passed by Cunningham's office, and I asked his name. "Higgins," replied Cunningham. "Used to swim. Do you know him?"

Bostonians do. He's John Higgins of Providence, who used to swim for Onyville. Member of the '36 Olympic team and holder at one time (if not now) of five world breaststroke records (100 meters to 500 meters).

Lieut. Higgins in August, 1941, a chief specialist under Gene Tunney, was commissioned at San Diego and went through his indoctrination course at Annapolis. He's been at Pensacola 20 months.

GUS ZITRIDES, TOO

"Gus Zitrides is also here," said Higgins, and Bostonians will remember Gus as a guard on Earl Blak's Dartmouth eleven. He's in the hospital now," Higgins added. "Just had a cyst removed from his back. Required 28 stitches." WOW!

A mental note to mention the myriad Boston boys at Pensacola and its auxiliary fields. Meaning, let's visit the Squadron Commander's office in Hangar No. 1 and check on Williams' flying record.

The squadron commander is Maj. Graham H. Benson, USMC, a native of Lexington, Ky., a scholarly, solidly appearing chap.

"I'll be very disappointed if Williams isn't commissioned in the Marines," said Maj. Graham as he introduced the assistant chief flight instructor—Lieut. William L. McGowan of Virginia. "Sit down, let's talk about him."

We did, for a full hour, while the planes kept streaming over Pensacola Bay.

"Better than average air student," is Navy instructor's rating of Ted Williams. Read about it, about the final months leading to a commission, in tomorrow's Boston American.

Jap Dead in New Britain—Three Yank Marines stand over the bodies of Japs killed while trying to hold their pillbox on Cape Gloucester, New Britain, against the American invaders. These Japs fell victims to Yank 75mm howitzers, although much of the fighting there has been hand-to-hand. Now see below . . .

Write Your Congressman Protesting Neglect of Discharged Veterans

Date _____

HON. _____

MEMBER OF CONGRESS,
CAPITOL BUILDING,
WASHINGTON, D. C.

I call on you to support legislation that will provide mustering out pay, clothing and hospitalization facilities for discharged service men immediately upon their return to civilian life.

I wish to register my protest against the neglect of wounded, disabled and mentally sick men of the armed forces who have been discharged without any provision for their care and treatment.

I petition you, as my representative in Congress, to do all in your power to see that those who fought and bled to preserve the American way of life will be assured the necessities of life upon their discharge from the armed forces.

This is urgent! Please act now!

Sincerely,
